Hayden, from her brother, James Cole, a sailor on the gunboat Dolphin. The letter was written at Tampico, April 14, and describes the arrest of the marines of the gunboat Dolphin as follows: "The other day we went ashore, ten of us, and the paymaster, to get supplies, and we got too far down the river on the firing line. As soon as we hit the beach the federal army As soon as captured us and we were flying the American flag, too. They held us prisoners about fifteen hours. Two Mexican officers came aboard and apologized, but they would not fire the salute. The admiral told them to fire it within 24 hours; but nothing stirring. He then gave a 24 hour extension. Word w sent here from Washington that, he didn't receive word from Washington by 6 p. m., last night, we were to take the city. We never got word until yesterday afternoon. We were all ready for action. We had 4,000 sailors ready to land from the ships."

— Washington, April 24: Proceedings were begun in the supreme court today to determine whether the national guard may be sent to Mexico or other territory outside States without first being mustered in as volunteers. The proceedings are in the nature of an appeal from the action of Judge Day in the Federal court in northern Ohio in dismissing an action of Lieut. Col. Daniel T. Stearns against Adjt. Gen. George H. Wood of the Ohio national guard, growing out of preparations for mili-tia movements outside the country. the court action is designed to test the constitutionality of the recently enacted milita law, under which Secretary Garrison directed the various national guard organizations mobilized "under orders from the presilized "under orders from the president, upon the declaration of war or the imminence thereof." The suit was begun April 18, at Cleveland, and Judge Day dismissed the action. The contention is made that under the constitution all Federal power over the state militia is confined to the organization, arming and disciplining of the organization, but that all other powers are reserved to the individual An appeal from the decision of Federal Julge Day was filed in the supreme court and a motion made to advance hearing on the case. Attorneys for the adjutant general of Ohio argued that the case should be advanced owing to the possible early need of the militia. "Conditions have arisen," they said in a brief filed to-day. "under which it may be necessary for such troops to be pressed in their present capacity, as the national guard, or in the event that such use many not lawfully be had, then their status changed to make them available for use beyond the limits of the United States before this cause might be reached in regular order and in the event that such use may be made, much will be gained in mili-tary preparedness and efficiency and United States for interfering in Mexia vast expenditure of money by government averted."

Mr. W. W. Smoak, former owner of the Press and Standard of Walterthe Anderson Intelligencer, has resumwill probably return to Walterboro after a while.

So far the Americans down in Mexco have shown that they know pretty well how to shoot. It took only a few Mr. Finley's vote on the question was shots from the six inch guns down at cations in the harbor and the walls of the naval college out of business.

If Huerta persists in holding Americans in the city of Mexico prisoners, what is to prevent the American army from going there? And if anything happens to the American prisoners and the responsibility can be fixed on Huerta, why should something not happen to Huerta?

The attitude of the British jackies when the Americans landed at Vera illustrate something. For instance a Cruz and the action of the Germans when American lives were threatened at Tampico, indicates that Uncle Sam has the complete sympathy of Europe in his little misunderstanding with Mexico.

In the first place, the element of friendly companionship which is such an important factor in the raising of volunteer companies, will be largely eliminated, and the conditions will be very much like those which now hinge around the act of volunteering for service in the regular army.

The Chilean, Brazilian and Argentine representatives in Washington have tendered the good offices of their respective governments for mediation between the United States and Mexico with a view to securing the elimination of Huerta. It is understood that the United States government is perfectly willing to accept these offers of mediation; but it is not thought that anybody at Washington believes anything will come of them. While as yet the South American governments seem to be friendly enough with the American government, among the South American people there is a feel-

Some of the less responsible newspapers of Japan are urging that the complications between the United States and Mexico furnish a desirable opportunity for the Japanese government to press its unsettled contentions against the United States. There is no question of the fact that there is much sentiment in Japan against the United States and a feeling in that country that the Japanese would really prove quite formidable antagonists for this country: but there is reason to believe that the good sense of the most level headed and influential leadership of Japan is sufficient to keep the country from making a most serious mistake for itself just at this

We repeat, "Mr. Finley is treading close to the brink of Repub-licanism."—Gaffney Ledger.

This is no quarrel of ours. The Ledger's characterization of Mr. Finley is a matter of opinion or assertion as one sees proper to look at it. ### NEGOTIATING FOR PEACE

South American Republics Would Me

diate in Mexican Matter. With Vera Cruz in the hands of the Americans, the regular army concen-trating along the border, and feverish preparations for war going on throughout the country, there has been a tem-porary lull in the Mexican excitement and there seems to be slight possibili-ty of settling existing differences with ut further bloodshed. The situation described in a Washington dispatch of last night as follows:

Formal acceptance by the Huerts government of the offer of Argentina, Brazil and Chile to use their good of-fices to bring about an amicable setlement of the difficulty between the United States and Mexico was cabled Spanish Ambassador Riano here tonight by Portillo y Rojas, foreign minister in the Huerta cabinet.

Senor Rojas' note was transmitted at once to the three South American diplomats who began a conference which lasted far into the night, dis cussing the next move in their peac plan. Secretary Bryan having accept ed the offer of good offices Saturday the first step now is completed and the way paved for actual negotiations looking to a peaceful clearing up o

The tenseness of the Mexican situa tion was distinctly relieved today when the representatives of Argentina. Brazil and Chile, supported by pressure from all Latin America and from the foremost powers of Europe, concentrated their efforts towards a specific adjustment of the crisis. The success of the first steps towards mediation—the prompt acceptance by the United States and the announcement of the Spanish ambassador that Huerta had accepted the tender of good offices-produced a feeling of distinct hope which was reflected not only in administration quarters but in con gress, where "war talk" gave way to a spirit of conciliation.

Throughout the day the three South American envoys held frequent con-ferences to arrange the preliminaries of procedure. Pending the receipt of the formal acceptance by Huerta proposals will be submitted to either the United States or the Huerta government. It also has been made plain her 20 and kent it we will Moreh 20 that no conditions as to the terms that will be acceptable as yet have been placed formally before the intermedi-

The president and Secretary Bryan were assured through serarate diplosources that Gen. Huerta was ready to accept the tender of good ofthe world-wide influences for peace.
